

SILCONE BASED SCENT MEDIA

Abstract

A scent media that uses silicone or other elastomeric material as a base component has been developed. The method for making a scented media, includes forming an elastomeric material and then adding a scented material to the elastomeric material to form the scented media. Finally the scented media is cured for a specified time based on the desired characteristics for the media.